Banqueting, Then Big Bean Business Marks New Season Start

FIRST DAY PRICES FINE THEN MARKET SLIPS

BY MIRIAM DULANY

The 1954-55 vegetable season in the Glades, eagerly welcomed by not only the growers and shippers of the lake region, but by all the folk of its various communities, was officially launched Monday in a promising manner with prices of Tendergreen variety beans soaring as in the pioneer days of farming.

However, prices of this variety of snap beans took a downward turn on Wednesday when the same quality beans sold for $3 or so per hamper less than Monday's $6.57 range. Containers also dropped in price from Tuesday to Wednesday.

Yesterday's unofficial report showed the New York market stronger, with Tendergreens at $6.7.

Growers anticipate that the bean market will soon become stabilized and prices will be profitable through the fall season. Prospects for one of the best crops in several years are apparent, as crops are maturing earlier due to favorable growing conditions of the fall months. For the past several years, heavy rains and floods wiped out or delayed the crops. The quality and yields of the present harvest are very good.

Vandegriff-Williams Farms, Inc. of Pahokee opened the auction on Monday afternoon with about six carloads of Tendergreen beans. A large number of buyers, growers, and interested spectators were on hand for the event, which resulted in about four cars sold at prices quoted at $6.30, $6.50, $6.85 and $7.10 per bushel hamper grade.

On Tuesday, good quality Tendergreens started a downward trend and were quoted at $4 per bushel hamper at the time of the sale. A large number of buyers, growers, and interested spectators were on hand for the event, which resulted in about four cars sold at prices quoted at $6.30, $6.50, $6.85 and $7.10 per bushel hamper grade.

On Wednesday $13.262.55 was realized from 183 head, Young said.

Monday sales figures follow: 35 yearlings, 403 cows, 552 steers, 144 heifers, 20 bulls, and 334 calves, 55 per cent of number of head and 59 per cent of dollars to slaughter.

JC'S DOING YULE PLANNING EARLY

BELLE GLADE — Larry Royal and Clarence Throop are Jaycee co-chairmen of the city Christmas program, which will include singing and a Nativity scene, the Jaycees decided at their weekly meeting last Thursday night.

Leonard Healy and Herbert Priest were appointed as representatives to the county-wide beautification committee. Veterans' Hospital and Herbert Priest were appointed as representatives to the county-wide beautification committee.

County Commission Chairman Lake Lytal will be the featured speaker at "Boss Night" on Nov. 10, 1954. Commissioner Paul Rardin of Canal Point will introduce Lytal.

PAHOKEE — About 50 young people of the Pahokee and Canal Point churches met Tuesday night at Pahokee First Methodist Church with W. A. Slauter, in preparation to organizing an Elks Pahokee-Canal Point Teen Chorus, to sing at veterans' banquets and in the community and elsewhere.

NEW LOADING RULES SET

PAHOKEE — Acting fast in an adjourned meeting Wednesday, Pahokee City Council passed the first loading zone ordinance in Pahokee history, and announced that next Monday at 11 a.m., space assignments for the new loading zone will be made by drawing.

A license fee of $100 per year per loading space is required, under the new ordinance, and accompanying application forms which are to be obtained from the City Clerk's office.

Loading zone spaces not assigned to annual license holders are to be available for a daily permit at a cost of $15 per day. All license fees, both annual and daily, will be set aside toward the purchase and maintenance of a loading zone site in the future, the ordinance also states.

City Clerk Dorothy Graham will officiate at the designated City Hall Monday, Council announced, and drawing for loading space will be made in order of application number. An applicant or his agent may draw, or in the absence of both the City Clerk will do so for him.

The loading area designated in the ordinance is Rardin Ave. between 31st Pl. and SW 42nd Pl. in colored town, classified as Loading Zone 1. Loading zone 2 includes nearby streets west of the avenue and east to Lake Ave.

Reason for the ordinance, as stated in the preamble, is that Council finds that solicitation and loading of farm labor in town creates "a serious and dangerous traffic problem," and therefore must be regulated by spacing and by police direction.

Hosp. Inspector In Belle Glade

BELLE GLADE — The investigator assigned by Acting Gov. C. C. Chiles to check up on Belle Glade Memorial Hospital has been here all week.

Chester S. Dishong, of Waukegan, with considerable background as a former county sheriff and U.S. marshal, arrived in Belle Glade Saturday.

He has been interviewing everybody from a former Belle Glade doctor now practicing in West Palm Beach to Belle Glade hospital nurses and physicians of the local hospital-medical practice.

As of OBSERVER press-time, Dishong had not seen Hospital Board Chairman Herbert Beck, but had talked with hospital staff members, some of the representatives of the citizens' committee, at least one hospital auxiliary member, to the OBSERVER editor and to other members of the press, to several doctors associated with the hospital, and to the untreated patient whose case brought public attention to the hospital. Charlotte York of Ocala Community.

Dishong planned to return to Tallahassee late yesterday or today, he said, to draw up some recommendations for the governor's attention. He said he hopes Gov. Johns will in turn have some comment or suggestions for the hospital's good in a couple of weeks.

BANQUETERS included (starting from left) Fred Hickerson and Mrs. Hickerson, Luke Arnold, Mrs. J. Frank Fine, Mrs. Arnold, J. F. Wooten, Mrs. Charles Fontaine and Mr. Fontaine. PAHOKEE OK'S AERIAL ON TANK

PAHOKEE — City Council took a turn for the generous at the first of its two meetings this week, and granted W. R. Wilson use of the city water tank as a base for a radio antenna at $1 a year rental.

Despite protests of City Attorney Ralph O. Johnson that no amount of insurance coverage would completely free the city of liability for the antenna, and despite Mayor Lewis Friend's warning that granting one such privilege would set a precedent which might someday see the water tank used as a coronet of antennae, the vote was unanimously for the Wilson antenna.

Saving Proviso

The Council action of the City Council was that Wilson will be allowed to put up the antenna only after signing a contract, to be filed with City Clerk Frank Anderson to read the Planning Board's recommendation that the antenna be removed if it is not used.

In the discussion of the antenna application, Council President F. S. Parrish reported that both cost and public danger elements entered into Wilson's reluctance to place the antenna atop or near his place of business.

Voting for placing the aerial atop the water tank were Parrish, Louis F. Mims, and apparently dubious Loren Meredith. E. B. Simonson was not present.

Council heard the plea of J. Paulsen, head of Southern States Construction Co., Inc., Miami for a city license to do business. Paulsen's crew had been starting installation of Lifeway aluminum lap siding on several local homes when they were stopped by the city building ordinance pertaining to use of sheet metal in residential construction.

3 Counts Laid On Truck Driver

PAHOKEE — Charges of drunken driving, reckless driving and destroying public property were placed against Chester Albert Millon early yesterday morning as a result of a tractor-trailer crash into a light pole shortly after 1 a.m. at Battlefield Highway and Belle Glade Rd.

Millon had unloaded farther south and was returning here, according to Police Chief Leon Guthrie, when his vehicle went out of control and knocked down a Florida Power & Light Co. pole, causing interruption to electric service for about 28 minutes in the entire Pahokee area. The International tractor-trailer was driving belongs to Guthrie's company, Sanford and Millon was in the employee of Guthrie's company.

According to Chief Guthrie, Millon is out on $200 bail waiting trial on the charges placed against him.

Migrant Relief Plan Set Up

BELLE GLADE — Local civic groups and church organizations are being asked to coordinate their relief to migrants through a newly organized committee set up to canalize assistance to migratory workers.

Established at a meeting last Thursday, a Migrant Advisory Committee under the chairmanship of Rev. Robert Ford, will aid and abet the Florida and National Council of Churches in their work at the local level.

The inter-committee assists the Florida Christian Ministry to Migrants program conducted at the camp level through Julian Griggs and Rev. G. E. Penion. When stockpiles of commodities run low in the camps the Advisory Committee's aid will be sought.

Chairman Ford said that most requests come from needy individuals already in camps although sometimes persons seek help from churches. At this time no central place outside the camps has been set up where migrants can seek help. James Wierengo is secretary-treasurer of the Advisory Committee.

A water show is scheduled for the carnival at the city swimming pool, sponsored jointly by the senior class and Cub Scouts.

Dr. Graham reports there has been a change in the plans to use the siren for the awarding of prizes to those in costume and purchasing a ticket at any concession. Instead, the pistol used for the football games will be shot as the signal, as the siren may be used on the firetruck rides for the children.

Members of the Halloween carnival committee met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Graham Monday night for final arrangements.

PAHOKEE — Mrs. E. J. Graham announces that a meeting to arrange the launching of the reactivated Cub Scout program will be held at her home Monday night, at 8 o'clock with both the neighbor commissioner and district commissioner of Cub Scouts present. Jack Phillips, Frank Gillis and W. K. Aldridge have been named as active cubmasters for the program.

Nowhere A Greater Need

Being hungry or being homeless just can't be passed off as a state of mind.

The hungry and the homeless are beginning to turn up on our own Glades doorstep now, as they do each season, and this time the community conscience may be able to rest easier.

The formation of the Migrant Advisory Committee in Belle Glade, to establish a central point to give temporary assistance to homeless migrants, is not only commendable, but encouraging. Each season, the Chamber of Commerce of Belle Glade and Pahokee, and assorted offices in the other Glades towns are besieged with migrants who need a little help until they can find housing, or until their first pay is collected. Also each season, the same problem arises — where to turn to get some assistance.

With Migrant Advisory Committee planning to be the focal point in Belle Glade, we hope that the other towns will follow suit and set up some community operation whereby these temporary residents can be assisted.

Perhaps in time, from such individual city funds, a Glades-wide operation will evolve, administered not only for migrants, but for the many, many outside contributions each town is asked for annually.

ED. NOTE: WHEN OBSERVER Reader Valerie Vondermuhl, of New York City, wrote a plan for a world-wide vacation, we asked her to record some of her impressions and drop them in whatever mailbox she found. What a mail brought this week follows.

BY VALERIE VONDERMUEHL

When we headed for India we looked forward to knocking off our Christmas shopping. The globe-trotting mentioned earlier the government-run Central Cottage Industries Emporium found in all major cities, where selected handicrafts were exhibited and sold. The one in New Delhi was touted as particularly good.

Our first stop was in Madras, but since we only had Sunday there, we spent the day sight-seeing — another car, another driver and ruggies and annas (16 to the rupee) scattered hither and yon. Plenty of time to shop in Delhi, we told ourselves.

The flight to Delhi by Indian Airlines DC-3 was smooth and speedy and we were soon settled into a wonderful hotel in Old Delhi, the Cecil. We had pictured a place fronting on a bazaar, loaded with atmosphere. The Cecil has atmosphere, all right, and it was the pleasant spot we had seen yet. It was not bazaar atmosphere but a combination of efficient hotel and the best features of a good country club. About five acres of grounds, an excellent swimming pool, two tennis courts, and a rambling two-story building combined to make a relaxing spot.

With some difficulty we tore ourselves away on Tuesday morning to tend to business. Our first stop to get plane tickets went smoothly. Then we ran into a mysterious holiday. American Express was closed ("They'll be open tomorrow morning"), the government tourist office was operating on skeleton staff. Figuring on getting checks cashed the next morning at American Express we stopped in at the Cottage Industries place to see what they had.

Everything & More

They had everything we wanted and more — beautiful silver bracelets and necklaces, cashmere shawls, graceful brass and enamel pitchers, some charming papier mache works, wonderful carving sets in wooden cases shaped to represent fish, and of course lovely silks and cottons. With no weight to worry about, since we had ship things home for us we tentatively picked out about $50 worth each including some rather bulky pieces. By U. S. standards the prices were very low — the simpler silver bracelets were 25 cents each, but the craftsmanship was superior.

The rest of the day we spent visiting some spectacular tombs with a Scottish friend and her

Red Chinese

The only serious group to arrive was the lower echelon of the Red China embassy which filed in two by two. We were surrounded by kids and their parents, mostly Indians, in a variety of dress — half native, half American. All around the grounds and in the trees and rooftops as much as a half mile from us were thousands of people from Delhi and the surrounding villages. At about five a kind of parade made the circuit of the grounds. We couldn't see much of this but the various floats represented the opposing forces of Rama and Ravana and were greeted with cheers and hilarity as they passed.

Then just at dusk the fireworks began and for the first time we forgot our disappointment of the morning. First a series of paper balloons, buoyed aloft by hot air from some kind of burning material suspended below them, shaped like fish, clocks, animals, and so on, was greeted with a roar. Then came skyrocket, oversized Roman candles and St. Catherine's wheels. We had never seen such a display and the kids around us were beside themselves with excitement.

The climax, which everyone else was waiting for, took us by surprise. The three effigies went up one by one, first a star-shaped area on the left, then the whole figure took fire accompanied by tremendous bangs. Although they were at least 100 yards away, we could feel the heat. The crowd loved it and so did we.

Somewhat the efficient police kept the crowd in order, and within 15 minutes, we and thousands of others were on our way home. Later that evening we read the program booklet.

Programmed

"On this day Lord Rama conquered the demon Ravana. It signifies the victory of truth and righteousness over untruth, selfishness and tyranny. . . . The war between Rama and Ravana has frequently waged in the mind of individuals in the constant struggle between good and evil tendencies. So let everyone of us resolve today to kill the Ravana or evil inside us and establish the victory of Rama in our hearts."

During her visit, T/Sgt. Bolkow invites all Glades area young women to drop around for a friendly chat about the Women Marines and discuss problems concerning enlistment. She will be glad to answer any questions concerning life in the service and describe all the many exciting and interesting places of duty for lady Leathernecks.

BY SCHATZI

"Hi Fi" said the bosses, tramping my tail as they went by ran upstairs to where we live.

"Just call me Schatzi," I said querulously.

Actually, I knew all the time they were really talking about High Fidelity.

Now for years, ever since I learned to understand people, and the phrase came into being, I had thought "high fidelity" was simply a happy marital situation.

I was, I had barely crawled out of the discarded 78 records heaped on the Virginia floor to make room for "LP" — long playing — records, when I perceived that "high fidelity" was electronic rather than matrimonial. This happened because every time Boss No. 1 put a new "LP" record on the old phonograph, somebody would say "You ought to have Hi Fi."

Eventually, after many, many months of grubbing for paychecks, the boss piled enough pennies together to go off and investigate "Hi Fi." It couldn't have been more than an hour before she was back — grubbing for considerably more pennies than her plan had called for.

By the time we moved to Florida, I and the late Stolz had squeezed into a small bed in the jeep, to make room for a radio, a record player, an amplifier, and a speaker — all part of it.

Well, short of the delays caused by one or another tube blowing out, or the record turntable balking, or a cabinet being of electronic parts, we had our household "Hi Fi" in operation.

That wasn't enough — no indeedie. Next, "LP" records were jolted from first position by "Hi Fi" records, and it turned out that though the bosses had all the "Hi Fi" equipment, there wasn't enough moola in the sock to buy "Hi Fi" records.

So we've had lots of Hi and lo of Fi, but never together at the same time.

Then, this week, my friend Big Ben came back from vacation in Washington, D. C., bearing two "Hi Fi" records. The bosses put them on the "Hi Fi" set the other night, and sure enough, every click of the organist's fingernail on the keys was recorded with "high fidelity." Chimes, bells, drums, flutes with startling clarity they rent my ears.

I have failed to understand the big "Hi Fi" phrases, like frequency coverage, fundamental resonance, and flux density, and have now pawed off a coupon ordering a book called "Hi Fi Is For Everybody."

Maybe it can explain why.

The Suppland

On December 3, 1934 France and Germany signed the Saar treaty in Rome. The treaty provided for a plebiscite to be held in January 1935. The ballot cast showed 90 percent of the population of the Saar in favor of reuniting with Germany. In March Germany took possession of the Saar.

This week France demanded the Saar and Germany has agreed to give it to her with certain minor reservations to be worked out through later negotiation. Mendes France, the French Premier, traded security from a reconstituted Germany for the coal and iron of the Saar. He realized that the natural resources of the Saar give France a defense potential against a new Germany without which France cannot hope to survive.

The Saar is the coal and iron center of Europe, it is the Pittsburgh and the Detroit of which ever nation possesses it.

France has had no vote in their return to France. It would be interesting to know how the ballots would have been cast had there been a plebiscite. The 90 percent who voted to reunite with Germany in 1935, as a result of their being separated from Germany by the Versailles treaty, went to the polling places with the memory of the ultimatum Hitler had shortly before sent the Austrian Chancellor Dollfus. They recalled the June 30 purge by Hitler of those who had been his trusted henchmen but were now competitors for power. The Versailles treaty was to be scrapped by Germany 14 days after the Saar returned to Germany. Possibly the election atmosphere was conducive to no other results.

Then, the Saar, France kept her ace card concealed until the moment all Western diplomats felt that a final agreement was accomplished. France said she would have the Saar as her price for recognizing a restored Germany.

The Versailles treaty has been redeemed — at least its provisions that France have predominant position in the Saar have been confirmed after nearly 20 years of dormancy.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, Belle Glade CHRISTIAN SCIENCE GROUP, Canal Point

How God's infinite love for man redeems man from sin by destroying sin and revealing man's divine, sinless nature, will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday. The Lesson-Sermon is entitled "Everlasting Punishment."

Among passages from the Bible will be read the story of the Prodigal Son, including his forgiveness and his welcome back to his father's house, as told in Chapter 15 of Luke's gospel.

The following selection on the overcoming of sin will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (327: 9-13):

"Evil is sometimes a man's highest conception of right, until his grasp on good grows stronger. Then he loses pleasure in wickedness, and it becomes his torment. The way to escape the misery of sin is to cease sinning. There is no other way."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (130:7): "Let Israel hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption."

WASHINGTON

NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers

WASHINGTON — In studies of new approaches to the need for bringing closer ties and greater understanding among the peoples of the Americas, I am having legislation drafted for a broad program of "Citizens' Exchange."

The student exchange program is recognized as one of the effective means of bringing about international understanding and goodwill. Under this program, there are 1,486 students from the "Old World" in the United States and in these European and Asiatic countries there are 858 U. S. students — also one in South Africa.

At the same time, 19 participating Latin American nations have 71 students in the U. S. and there are only 21 students in all the Latin America countries. There should be means available for the exchange of hundreds of such students — possibly thousands — and citizens and civic leaders as well as students should be included. Had Guatemala sent her citizen leaders to the U.S. instead of to Moscow there would have been no Communist troubles in that sister republic.

DROUTH AID RE-STUDIED: The White House has advised

Holiday feasters will have plenty of turkey, according to the Florida Farm Bureau. The current crop is estimated at 61.3 million birds or about 9 percent more than last year, the bureau says, adding that the cranberry crop is also well above average.

NO PROTEIN — NO PRODUCTION

"There is no way of short-changing a cow on protein and still have a cow that will produce a calf every year. A cow short of protein will tend to have a calf one year and skip the next. She has to do this because she needs to reparate and build body stores in order to conceive and give birth to another calf. This is nature's way of protecting her against the lack of protein."

441 Redirection Asked By Assn.

BELLE GLADE — With 14% more traffic over US Highway 441 in the past year, the association hopes to see the county commission save travelers some 26 minutes by connecting 441 with 27 at South Bay.

The present route takes the unsuspecting through Pahokee and Belle Glade and then on the way back east and down SR 7 instead of into South Bay and down US 27, the safer and faster way, the Association reports.

Meeting at Belle Glade Saturday afternoon, the Highway 441 Association voted to ask a resolution regarding the change in routing. Additionally, Members Manning Keen, Pahokee, and William C. Young, Belle Glade, are to be informed whether at the same time they present the resolution to the commission they will ask deletion of one or both routes between Belle Glade and Pahokee as 441.

Fast President Henry Eard of the association led the discussion leading up to the resolution.

Expenses for grass cutting and 441 signs were approved and the repainting of the two signs at South Bay was authorized. A nominating committee to report at the next meeting in February at Okchochee, was appointed by President Robert Johns as follows: Keen, Chairman; Young and Herbert Nix of Okchochee.

Members of the Association from Belle Glade and Pahokee were joint hosts for the afternoon session, with Ivan L. Horn in charge of arrangements which culminated in a tour of the Everglades Experiment Station conducted by R. W. Kidder, and dinner. Others present were Paul Sasser, Mrs. Don Hillier of shipped Tuesday from the lake area.

SEASON —

The sale of Tendergreens was most disappointing on Wednesday, when auctions at Vann's, Rabin, Pioneer, and Vangriffin Williams resulted in this variety being quoted at $1.90 to $3.50 per hamper, and Contenders sold at Vann's for $4.75 to $5, apparently the same quality beans that brought a couple of dollars more the day before.

Unity Farms, Inc. of Pahokee had the first Black Valentines of the season on Wednesday. These sold for about $5.65 per hamper.

12-13 Cars Wed.

Wednesday's bean volume in the lake section totaled 12 or 13 cars. Volumes of beans will continue to increase steadily and the peak movement of the fall harvest will probably roll around the 15th or 20th of November. Growers of Lake Okchochee Farmers Cooperative, of Canal Point, Hull Packing Company of Pahokee, Wedgworth's of Belle Glade, and South Bay Growers, Inc. of South Bay will start their bean harvest shortly. The bean acreage to be picked in the next few weeks will probably total around 8,000 acres.

P. D. Seyler of Belle Glade, Lewis Friend and Hatton Bros. of Pahokee have harvested light volumes of pole beans. These have sold for $5. to $5.50 per hamper. There are probably 150 to 200 acres planted to pole beans in the Glades.

Growers will continue to plant snap beans on through the season and into April or May. The majority of those being planted now in the Pahokee and Canal Point area are of the Black Valentine variety.

Corn Next
The sweet corn harvest is expected to start the first of next week with Vandegriff-Williams opening the deal, and Everglades Growers Cooperative of Pahokee handling the corn. Hatton Brothers will probably be one of the next to pull corn. The fall acreage of sweet corn is estimated at about 2,500 or 3,000 acres. There is still a little seeding of sweet corn, but the heaviest plantings will be for the spring harvest.

Radishes are making for pulling in the Belle Glade area. Crops of mustard, collards, turnips, escarole, chichili and cabbage are also reaching maturity and will be moving to markets shortly. The pepper crops of the Canal Point area are said to be progressing nicely.

Harvest of this crop will be very light until after the first of the year.
A. Duda & Sons of Belle Glade will have celery ready for the Thanksgiving market, and other celery growers report crops maturing nicely.
Harvest of about 35 acres of ice box watermelons started Thursday of last week in the Devil's Garden area near Clewiston, owned by Charles Fontaine of Belle Glade. These are being packed and shipped by Pioneer Growers Cooperative.

Pahokee; Ed Neid, mayor of Kissimmee; Will Hoover, secretary of Kissimmee Chamber of Commerce; Vice-Mayor H. O. Carlton, City Manager Tom Carle, J. B. Jones, A. J. and Benny Richmond of Belle Glade.

John Elbon Resigns From Bank Of Pahokee

PAHOKEE — H. M. McIntosh, president of Bank of Pahokee, announced today that John A. Elbon, vice president of the bank, has resigned his position, effective November 1, 1954.

"Mr. Elbon has performed outstanding services to the bank," McIntosh said in announcing the resignation. Elbon joined the bank in July, 1951. He has not yet announced his future plans.

LIQUOR HOURS RULING UPHELD BY HIGH COURT

The county commission officially learned this week that the State Supreme Court had upheld a circuit court decision in which the commission was given the authority to establish operating hours for liquor stores. The suit was the outgrowth of litigation brought by Mrs. George Makos, Glades Club operator, who had challenged the commission's right to establish hours.

In connection with the case, Commissioner Paul Rardin asked that the State Beverage Department be contacted to determine what hours of operation are now being enforced in the Glades. Rardin said that the hours of operation differed in South Bay, Belle Glade and in Pahokee.

ZONING —

be restricted and the restrictions filed at the Court House to prevent it from being a slum or undesirable business area.

Economic Note
Johnson injected the note of economies upon which the whole question is likely to be resolved when in his final plea he said there is a need for development of housing at a price the area can afford to pay. Without a commercial area, development cannot be priced for the pocket book of the prospective home owner, he pointed out.

An interested spectator and authority on housing, Irvin Zumpf confirmed the economic opinion when he said that zoning the area to residential would probably preclude the expenditure of an estimated $850,000 which could not be borrowed for development of residential property situated as this was on a main highway unless provision is made for a buffer strip.

Commission then heard C. A. Bailey recommend that the property in question be zoned for restricted business instead of less highly restricted businesses.

Taylor Spokesman
W. C. Taylor appeared as spokesman for a delegation of persons who would be most affected by the zoning "business" instead of "residence." Supporting the Planning Board recommendation, Taylor pointed out that with 50% of Belle Glade's population living in one-fourth of its area, all space available for housing should be so used rather than using it for business.

In response to a question as to whether the use of this strip as residential instead of business property would by any means offer a solution to the problem Taylor agreed that it probably would not but was a step in the right direction. It was confirmed that approximately 108 units could be built for families in the area where business is likely to be allowed.

Herman Close moved that the attorney be instructed to draw restrictions to assure that the proposed business area be kept of high type and then consideration will be given to the question of zoning — either follow the Planning Board and make residential or decide to confirm the area as business.

Other Actions
Among other actions Council: GRANTED L. R. Rudy certificates of convenience to operate three taxicabs;
DECIDED to go ahead with Health Center on site as confirmed to bidder in previous action rather than remove site to place preferred by County Health Director C. L. Brumback and his colleagues;

ADVERTISED for bids for a new police car, new dump, and trash trucks, and office furniture, as well as floor coverings for City Hall;

TABLED discussion of site for sub-courthouse and similarly disposed of a request from Lantana that city support legislation for diversion of certain gas taxes until after a meeting of the League of Municipalities;

APPOINTED Ira Wall, Ft. Pierce, city engineer and building inspector at a salary of $450 per month, to assume his duties Nov. 15;

RESOLVED that Cotton Club and Nick's Bar licenses will be revoked unless structural and sanitary facilities are immediately brought to standard;

VOTED $75 to driver instructor training program in Belle Glade high school;
HEARD estimates of cost for cross-canal water pipe material and installation.

Council agreed to check nearby cities to see whether the issuance of licenses to Paulen permits him to install the aluminum exteriors in Residential A zones.

Other Actions

In other actions, Council: GRANTED a beer license to Mrs. Lily Chance;

RENEWED the beer license of Ila Mathis after expressing the hope that he will keep closer watch on management of his Smoke Shop;

HEARD Police Commissioner Loren Meredith express the need for a traffic light at Belle Glade Rd. and Barfield High-
